

Circus Held Over for Show Tonight at 8

The J. C. Michaels Big City Grandstand Circus, acclaimed the best of its kind ever to play here, has been held over for another performance tonight at 8 o'clock at Fair park's rodeo arena.

Due to weather conditions over the July 4 holidays attendance has been held to a minimum. The entire troupe is staying over to perform tonight to give the Live Stock Association a chance to come out above its guarantee.

All who have seen the show say it is the best outdoor circus ever held in this section. Many of the acts have performed in Madison Square Garden. There are 14 acts of every type to make up a full 2-hour show. They appeal to every member of the family.

It's a fine show and every person in this area should see these acts before they leave. A member of the Stock Association said this morning.

Admission is only $1 for adults and 40 cents for children.

Czechs Cheer U. S. in Mass Protest

Prague, July 6 (UP)—Czechs waved United States flags and shouted slogans today in what appeared to be an organized protest against the Communist regime in Czechoslovakia.

The demonstrations occurred during a five-hour parade in Prague of the Sokols—Czech gymnastic societies—through the streets.

Police appeared powerless to halt the demonstration, but eyewitnesses said that at least three young men who shouted "there is no republic without Masaryk" were arrested.

Officials said there were 70,000 marchers with 111 bands in the parade.

The demonstrations erupted suddenly all along the five-hour line of march of the Sokol paraders.

The shouts referred to Eduard Benes, resigned former president of Czechoslovakia, who gave way to the Communists a few weeks ago and to the late Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk, who was killed or committed suicide last March 10.

It was the first major public protest in this country against the Communist regime.

The Sokols leaders defied unpublished warnings of the Communist-controlled police to carry out the demonstration. Police were in parading units which shouted for Benes.

Vanishing Cream Apparently Works on a Burglar

Los Angeles, July 6 (AP)—Three times the persistent burglar tried to loot her home Joyce Lynne Murray, 20, told police, explaining:

"I was surprised him in the bedroom. He ran out the front way.

Fifteen minutes later he was on the back porch. She slipped on the light. He fled.

She looked up to find him in the living room, gun in his hand. She screamed and threw the nearest jar.

Third time was the charm. It was vanishing cream.

The issue of granting greater rights to Negroes and other minorities groups has stirred up a major problem for the platform writers as they got ready for their first meeting in Philadelphia tomorrow.

This is the reported aim of the platform committee, headed by Pennsylvania's Senator Francis J. Myers.

To find some compromise satisfactory both to the backers of President Truman's controversial civil rights program and to the Southern states who have threatened to pull the party wide open over that program.

The group plans to hold public hearings tomorrow, Thursday, and Friday.

The convention opens on Monday. The civil rights question is expected to get a full and possibly violent airing before both the committee and the full convention.

Groups of Negro groups, representing substantial voting strength, have asked to be heard by Myers' committee. They are expected to demand a plank calling for anti poll tax, anti-lynch, fair employment and other civil rights legislation.

Meanwhile, at Minneapolis, May or Hubert H. Humphrey, a member of the platform committee, announced that 50 party leaders in Chicago, Frank D. Roosevelt Jr., will try to squeeze Mr. Truman's entire program into the platform.

Any such move would be sure to set off furious Southern reaction.

The fight between the two disputing groups, the compromisers, was reported to be considering this fact as a middle ground which might hold the support, however reluctant, of both factions.

But in the 1948 platform the same general language, the civil rights that was incorporated in the 1944 platform after a bitter struggle.

Follow this up with a strong plank stating the party's opposition to racial interference with states' rights.

Eisenhower Says He Cannot Take Nomination

New York, July 6 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower last night made a flat disavowal of political ambitions with a statement that he could not accept nomination for any public office.

Eisenhower broke a political silence of almost six months to take public cognizance of the booming draft-Eisenhower movement within the Democratic party.

But many leaders of the draft movements said they would not take the general's "no" for an answer and would continue efforts to win the top spot on the Democratic ticket for him.

Eisenhower's statement, released by Robert Harron, Columbia University Director of Public Information, said:

"I will not, at this time, identify myself with any political party, and could not accept nomination for any public office or participate in partisan political contest."

James Roosevelt eldest son of the late president and California Democratic chairman, insisted on going ahead with plans to nominate Truman to request Gen. Eisenhower to accept the Democratic presidential nomination.

The vice chairman of the National Democratic Committee said the position of the party is unchanged. x x x New Jersey will cast its 36 votes for an out-and-out draft of Gen. Eisenhower at the convention.

The former Jersey city mayor, who on Sunday in Acubury Park led the New Jersey delegation from support of Truman to endorsement of Eisenhower at an extraordinary party caucus, continued:

"I can advise the president that New Jersey will go into the Republican column by over 300,000 votes if President Truman is the candidate. He added, however, that if Gen. Eisenhower were drafted at the request of the president the state would remain Democratic by over 200,000."

Gen. Eisenhower asserted last night that he "could not accept nomination for any public office."

To this disavowal Hague said: "I think Gen. Eisenhower expressed clearly the thought that is in the general's mind when he said that if President Truman were to request the general to accept the nomination it would afford the general an opportunity to serve the American people without being involved in a partisan controversy for the nomination."

Hague recalled his 26 years experience as a national committee man and said he had been following the political scene in this country very closely. He added:

"It is inconceivable that the president would enter a campaign as important as this one without conferring with the Democratic leaders throughout the country and the people without being involved in the advice of a few inexperienced advisers."

"If the president knew the real conditions and knew the disastrous results that confront the Democratic party in this campaign I am sure that he would hesitate to subject the party to such a disastrous defeat."

"It is the duty of the Democratic leaders throughout the country not to treat lightly the sentiment of the people without being involved in the advice of a few inexperienced advisers."

Pilot Waves to Friend and Plane Crashes

Collierville, Tenn., July 6 (AP)—A young pilot, circling his plane over a friend's house, crashed while she watched yesterday. She helped pull him from the wreckage.

The pilot, Elton Bryan, 20, of Biloxi, Miss., was in critical condition at a Memphis hospital today.

Bryan plunged to the ground in a rented plane near here after waving at Miss Birdie Keough 21, a former schoolmate, who was standing in the yard in front of her home.

"He waved at me and I waved back," Miss Keough said. "I thought he was leaving when his plane suddenly dropped to the ground. My brother and I pulled him out."

550 Persons Meet Death Over the U. S.

By The Associated Press

More than 550 persons were killed in accidents over the nation during the three-day Independence Day holiday, including 297 in traffic mishaps. The traffic toll for the period is the country's highest since 1941.

The National Safety Council had predicted 235 lives would be lost in traffic accidents during the long week-end. The 1941 Fourth of July holiday death toll from highway accidents was 384, which was an all-time annual record for automobile fatalities.

The nation had ample warning of the holiday hazards but awaited the holiday motorists. Ned H. Dearborn, council president said, "Newspapers and radio stations did their level best to help motorists hold down the death toll. But once again a shocking and tragic death toll proves that it will save lives the rest of the summer."

This year's death list included four from fireworks. A final survey of fatalities from the holiday period, local time Friday until midnight showed a total of 555, including:

Deaths from traffic accidents, 297; drownings 187; fireworks, 4 and miscellaneous causes, 67.

The highway deaths were more than the 346 killed a year ago. This year's death toll from traffic mishaps compared with 264 last year, while the 187 drownings compared with 114 a year ago.

Of the 46 states New Hampshire and South Dakota reported no violent deaths. Pennsylvania reported the heaviest toll—44, including 23 traffic; 14 drownings; six miscellaneous and one fire.

Deaths by state, listing traffic, drownings, and miscellaneous included: Arkansas 5 5 4 2; Missouri 5 1 3.

Holiday Deaths in Arkansas Total 15

By The Associated Press

The violent death toll for the July Fourth week end stood at 15 today (Tuesday) as residents resumed their normal activities.

Five persons were killed in traffic accidents and another died in a train between last Friday night and last midnight. Four persons drowned. There were two homicides and an equal number of suicides.

Two of the highway deaths occurred yesterday — officially observed as Independence Day. Mrs. Gale W. Meadows, 47, of Pine Bluff, was killed and three members of her family were injured when their automobile left Highway 67 near Arkadelphia.

Her son, Gale, Jr., 33, suffered a brain concussion; his daughter, Mary Alice, 23, of Houston, Tex., a fractured left arm, and her son-in-law, Joe L. Gillis, 24, of Houston the driver minor injuries.

Joseph B. Rogers, 38, Jones Mill aluminum worker was killed when his auto, a 1941 Buick, left the highway south of Malvern.

Stanley Jewel Johnson, 21-year-old Pine Bluff war veteran, died yesterday of injuries suffered in an apparently unmotivated attack near Salina Sunday night.

U.S. Demands Russia Lift Berlin Blockade

Washington, July 6 (AP)—The United States demanded directly to the Soviet government today that the Russian blockade of Berlin be lifted.

Secretary of State Marshall presented the American note of protest.

BRITAIN, FRANCE ALSO PROTEST. London, July 6 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France protested strongly to Russia today against the Soviet blockade of western Berlin.

The notes were handed to the Soviet ambassadors in the three capitals.

The notes were drafted after 10 days of talks and constant communications among British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, U. S. Ambassador Lewis W. Douglas, French Ambassador Rene Massigli and Sir William Strang, Bevin's German expert.

test personally to Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin. Immediately afterward, State Department Press Officer Lincoln White issued this statement:

"Ambassador Panyushkin called on the secretary at 11:30 o'clock (EDT) this morning and was given a note regarding the situation in Berlin."

The ambassadors were informed that it is not the intention of this government to make the contents of the note public until the Soviet government officially gives an intimation of the line which Marshall took.

Other diplomatic informants said there appeared no doubt that he demanded the immediate lifting of the Berlin blockade, and pointed out that the Soviet Union must accept responsibility for any lack of supplies among the millions of Germans living in Berlin.

White did not deny what was meant by a "reasonable period of time in which the Soviet government could study the American note but presumably it meant several days at least."

The contents of the notes from the three Western powers are not expected to be disclosed for several days. Notes similar to that of the U. S. were understood to have been handed the Soviet ambassador in London and Paris.

Panyushkin said Marshall had not expressed to him directly any views on Berlin. He did not say what they talked about during the time he was in the secretary's office.

Belgrade, July 7 (AP) Yugoslav were reported today to have given evidence of support for Premier Marshal Tito, who has been denounced by the Soviet-controlled Cominform.

The Yugoslav Communist newspaper Borba said last night that in a public statement subscribed $50,000,000 of the $70,000,000 national loan.

Other press accounts said local committees of the Communist party all over the country are sending messages to the Cominform that they are "with the marshal."

The National Organization of War Invalids resolved that its members will renew their efforts toward helping build socialism under Tito.

But there was an air of contradiction in the press. On the front pages appeared reports of blistering replies by Yugoslav Communist leaders to the Cominform charges that Tito and his lieutenants were deviating from the Orthodox communist line and were pursuing a hateful policy toward Russia.

The back pages of the same papers carried news items telling of normal operations between the countries belonging to the Cominform or Communist International Information Bureau.

Charles Fleming of Forrest City, former St. Francis county judge and east Arkansas landowner, was in Hope last night for a scheduled speech in the campaign for governor but called it off because of a rain.

Coal Miners Go on Strike in Two States

Pittsburgh, July 6 (AP)—A walk-out embracing 50,000 of the nation's 400,000 bituminous coal miners was launched today in the two leading coal states—West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Most of the idle were miners protesting lack of a contract in steel company captive mines. The rest were commercial coal diggers in Western Pennsylvania who stayed home in sympathy.

Steel production was hit at once. The Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., a U. S. steel subsidiary, announced that it was suspending the banking of at least eight blast furnaces and open hearths. Its Bessemer output at Youngstown, O., was cut in half.

Captive mines idle in West Virginia included those of the American Rolling Mill Co.

Overall coal production in western Pennsylvania, which employs 56,000 miners, was only 20 per cent of normal.

The big U. S. Steel Corporation reported all 14 of its Pennsylvania mines, employing 12,000 men, were idle, causing a daily loss of 55,000 tons of coal.

Among other captive mines closed were those of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. And the Weirton Steel Co. captive mines, as those whose output goes to a parent firm, like a steel company.

The Western Pennsylvania Coal Operators Association reported commercial coal production in the Pittsburgh-Uniontown area was only one-third of normal, with 30 pits and 10,000 commercial mines is sold on the open market.

Commercial producers hit hard included the Pittsburgh Coal Company, which reported 14 of its 17 deep mines in Pennsylvania closed. With 3,500 men idle, its daily production loss was 24,000 tons.

The captive miners stayed away from work because of lack of a contract. Some companies refused a new contract because of a union shop provision.

The majority of the 400,000 bituminous miners had a new contract from commercial coal operators last week. The 10-day miners' vacation which ended yesterday. The captive miners held to the United Mine Workers' tradition of "no contract, no work."

Signs on the mine doors declared the pits open and promised the captive miners all the benefits of the union shop contract—except the union shop.

Most of the captives are in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. A few are in Alabama and Kentucky. 56,000 Western Pennsylvania miners, 12,000 of them in the 56,000 Western Pennsylvania mines work in steel-company owned mines. The mines belong to U. S. Steel Corp., Republic Steel, Youngstown Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Weirton Steel, Wheeling Steel and Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.

Salt Lake City July 6.—(AP)—Ten persons were injured last night when an aerial bomb exploded prematurely at the state fairgrounds.

An 11-year old Salt Lake City boy, James Vohs, was hurt critically in the explosion during a holiday fireworks display. The bomb, containing 35 separate explosions, was the last one of the display. James Howard, Brigham City, in charge of the exhibition reported.

The bomb was shot from a cannon. Although it was expected not to explode until it went through the air 300 feet, it ignited at about 50 feet.

Several later explosions occurred among the crowd, one near the Vohs child.

Hope Legion Team Bests Camden 4-3

Hope's Legion Junior Baseball team came from behind to defeat Camden last night by a 4 to 3 score in 10 innings. It was a hotly contested affair.

Anderson, Hope hurler gave up only 4 hits and struck out 17 batters while the Camden hurler, Thompson, allowed 6 hits and whiffed 16 batters.

Camden scored two runs in the second and another in the 7th. Hope used its half of the 9th inning to tie up the score 3 all and went on to win in the 10th, giving their 9th straight victory.

Camden comes to Hope for a return game on Wednesday, July 14, at 3 p.m. at Fair park. The local team goes to Little Rock Friday afternoon for a game with the Doughboys at 1:30 at Lamar Porter field.

Merchants Are Eliminated in 3rd Game

Hope Merchants lost to Right Way Cleaners of Shreveport in their third game of the Big Tri-State Tournament held at Shreveport yesterday and last night. Hutchins Motors team won the tournament over Falstaff of Galveston by a score of 11 to 0.

The Hope team was supposed to have drawn a bye in the first round but had to play a preliminary game with McAnister Fuel Oil of Magnolia, the only other Arkansas team entered in the 22-team tournament, but the game was called before it was over and neither team was eliminated.

In the second game for the Merchants they won Hughes & Roberts, also of Shreveport, by a score of 9 to 2. The Hope boys had to go right into a game then against Right Way Cleaners and were ousted out by a score of 3 to 2, one of the best games of the tournament according to the umpires.

If the Hope boys had won that game they would have had to Texas.

DOROTHY DIX Guides to Happiness

This is the month when wedding bells are ringing a merry roundelay and when everybody, even those who have been repellers in the divorce court, feels called upon to give wise counsel to the newlyweds on how to be happy.

Play three straight games without a break to win the tournament. Due to the extreme heat and so much play, most of the teams were glad when the tournament was over.

The Hutchins Motors team, who won the tournament, had four good pitchers and won six straight games. The only score of the Hutchins-Falstaff game was a home run by one of the Hutchins boys and featured a pitching duel all the way.

Next week, July 12 through 17, the Hope team will be entered in an invitation tournament at Texarkana and many Hope fans are expected to follow them through this.

Bitter Reprieve

By Drexel Drake Copyright, 1948 Charles H. Huff Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Playboy Marcus Sterling owes Harry Bindle a gambling debt of $10,000. He cannot pay. His wealthy wife, Miriam, has refused him the money. He comes home late after dodging Bindle all day. Miriam is out. Bindle phones that he will be over at 11 to collect. Marcus is desperate. Miriam comes in wearing her fabulous diamond necklace. In order to get her out of the library before Bindle arrives, Marcus gives her a doped drink. Miriam, wounded, takes her drink to collect. Marcus her drink to collect. Marcus demands the money under threat. Marcus, cornered, gets an idea. He goes up to his wife's room. Miriam is asleep. Marcus takes her diamond necklace from a wall safe. To make it appear burglar, he takes the necklace and Bindle accepts the necklace as security only on the understanding that Marcus will pay up by Saturday. Bindle leaves.

VII
In the library, Sterling went to the bar, rushed a drink, taking it straight. He was peculiarly aware of a sharp mental alertness, an uncanny sense of planning, in sharp contrast with his earlier denial.

Sterling moved quickly, with decision. He scanned the room. He picked up the tray he had provided for Bindle and returned it to the bar, putting the bottle among other bottles, the used glass with other glasses he had used, set the thermos aside and restored the tray to its usual position. From his coat pocket he took the fabric gloves he had worn while in his wife's room and taken off after closing her door. He slipped his hands into them.

Selecting the middle pair of easement windows in the alcove overlooking the driveway, Sterling held aside the heavy drape and loosened the latch. He drew in one sash. Doubling one gloved hand into a fist, he hit flatly, sharply against a corner of the small pane directly opposite the latch. The sound of the blow was slight. The splintered glass scattered on the rug noiselessly. Sterling closed the sash and fastened the latch. Studying what he had done, he was pleased with results. A hand easily could reach through the jagged opening and unfasten the latch.

In a closet off the kitchen Sterling found a pair of shoes he had discarded. Carrying them with him, he went out the front door, fixing the catch so that he could get back in without removing his gloves to use is key. He rounded the corner of the house into the shadow between the two parked cars and the library windows.

Putting his hands into the shoes he carried, he stooped down just outside the window pane he had just shattered. The strip of grass between the driveway and the house was still damp from a recent shower. The soil around the low shrubs at the base of the building wall was soft. Sterling worked the shoes on his hands against the wet grass, into the soft dirt, producing the effect of scuffed, undistinguishable footprints. Reaching up, he scurried to the wall with the stained shoes. That task accomplished, he stooped again, taking care to disfigure his own footprints with the shoes on his hands.

Back in the house, he unlatched the easement window and, crouching in both sashes, leaving a wide opening. He used the muddy shoes for further disfigurement of the sill and then scuffed them along the rug leading toward the door into the hall. With that operation completed, he found the open door wrapped up the shoes, and added the parcel to the contents of his bag in the front hall.

Sterling returned to the alcove, surveying what he had done. Every move he had made constantly running through his head, he had been in a question constantly running through his thoughts: What would a burglar do? Upstairs in Miriam's room, he had left complete evidence of burglary. Down here he was producing the essential complement of that setting.

He pictured the burglar having pushed open the window, boosting himself through the opening. The heavy drape would be swept back. It might... it would knock over the ebony taboret and the tall statuette clock mounted on top of it! Knocked far enough, the cord would be pulled loose from the socket in the baseboard under the drape. The clock would stop. That would fix exactly the time of the burglar's entry!

Sterling bent to the clock. The hands were at 11 minutes after 12. He found the small set screw at the back of the clock... turned it until the hands pointed to just a trifle past 1:30. From the window side, Sterling gave the drape a vigorous push. The taboret went were married my husband and I made six rules to guide our domestic life. Number One was: Don't make marriage a 50-50 proposition. Put all you have into it. Don't just make excuses for each other's faults. Love them because they are Tom and Sally's. Plan together. Work together. Laugh together. Cry together. Nothing is harder to do or endure if there is another shoulder helping you to bear it.

"Number Three: Give yourself with your wife. There is a selfishness far worse than being stingy about the tangible wants of our husbands and wives. It is the deliberate withholding of the loving words, the sunny smiles, the warm kisses, the sympathy and understanding that never fail. No matter what the bankers say, the most valuable thing on earth is still love. And it is the greatest magic. It is the thing that makes a homely woman beautiful, takes the sting out of poverty, and the more you give, the greater the supply.

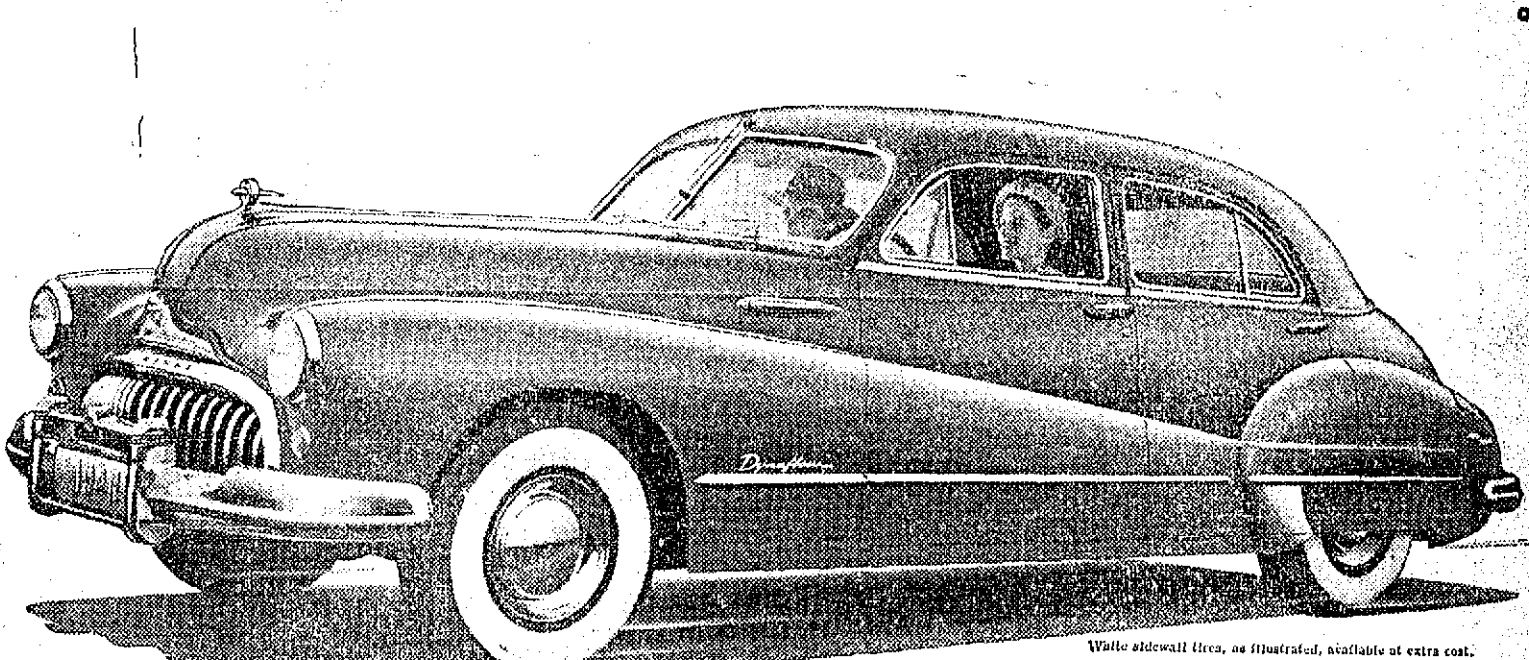

"Number Four: Pray together. Perhaps marriages aren't made in Heaven, but it is certainly a safe place to keep them. No husband and wife who pray together ever get far from God.

"Number Five: Remember that after marriage the wife has to do the love-making. Don't scrimp on it. Keep telling your husband how handsome and wonderful he is and how you appreciate all of his goodness to you. Few men will admit to being romantic, but they all gobble up sweet talk, and ask for more.

"Number Six: Don't believe that marriage kills love. It is only the wives who run on their jobs as wives who kill their husbands' love. But the good wife becomes a part of her husband's very life blood.

"Number Seven: Remember that after marriage the wife has to do the love-making. Don't scrimp on it. Keep telling your husband how handsome and wonderful he is and how you appreciate all of his goodness to you. Few men will admit to being romantic, but they all gobble up sweet talk, and ask for more.

"Number Eight: Remember that after marriage the wife has to do the love-making. Don't scrimp on it. Keep telling your husband how handsome and wonderful he is and how you appreciate all of his goodness to you. Few men will admit to being romantic, but they all gobble up sweet talk, and ask for more.

SHEER TRAVEL MAGIC

THIS is the Buick America's car. Buyers are buzzing about. This is the one with travel magic flowing all through it.

This is the ROADMASTER with Dynaflo Drive*—where Main Street's dense traffic, the inviting open road and the long, stretching hills are bossed with equal ease by a toe-touch.

Here you let your left foot idle comfortably wherever you wish—there's no clutch pedal to push, ever.

Here your mind's free completely of remembering when to shift—no gears ever shift anywhere in the car.

Here, you glide over ground and grades in swift and utter smoothness as constant and unbroken as Niagara's flow.

For here you have the only passenger car in America where liquid replaces both the usual clutch and the low-second-high gear sequence of conventional transmissions.

What's Different About DYNAFLO DRIVE?
To an efficient new pump (left above), Buick engineers have added a true turbine (right) and an ingenious new supercharging assembly (in hand) which produce a torque-boasting action in starting and accelerating. The result is the first device on any American passenger car which employs liquid to fill the function of both the clutch and the usual low, second and high gears. The clutch pedal is eliminated and high gears. The clutch pedal is eliminated and high gears. The clutch pedal is eliminated and high gears.

When better automobiles are built BUICK will build them

Here you sit in blissful ease while the power plant itself meets and masters the thousand and one situations that come up in travel.

Gentle grades, steep hills, long straightaways, stop streets—once your lever's set, you simply step on the gas—and take them all in liquid-smooth luxury!

Does all this sound fabulous? It is.

So fabulous that folks are signing up in droves for the '48 fashion plate with this new-wonder drive.

So to take command of this traveler-touched-with-magic, come see us quickly and get your order in.

Around They Go

A telescopic camera, pointed at the Pole Star, and left exposed throughout 24 hours of a polar night, shows the stars, not as points of light, but as circles around the celestial pole.

Tomorrow's telephone service

"Today we are able to provide a great deal more service to more people than 20 or 25 years ago. The number of Bell telephones has increased nearly three times. Calls have increased from about 18 billion a year to more than 50 billion. Service is faster, the quality of transmission better, and errors less frequent.

"The plant is more sturdy and the service more dependable. The range of service has been vastly extended... to the more remote areas of our own country... the world, and to serve ships, automobiles, trains and aircraft.

"New types of facilities are being introduced, including coaxial cables and radio relay systems which are carrying television programs as well as telephone conversations. New switching systems will in time further speed up toll and long distance service....

"We are keenly aware that the problems caused by the war and the unprecedented demands of the postwar period have made it impossible to give service to all who want it and to give every customer the kind of service he wants. Yet, though the service today is not in every respect what we would like to have it and intend to make it, it is beyond all comparison better than it was 20 or 25 years ago.

"Not only is the service better but its value to the user is far greater than ever before. For example, a telephone user today on the average can reach three times as many telephones in his local exchange area as he could 25 years ago....

"We must continue to go forward—a task that is accepted with confidence, with wholehearted enthusiasm, and with the determination that the people of our nation shall continue to enjoy the most, the cheapest and the best telephone service in the world."

From an address by Leroy A. Wilson, recently elected president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, at the annual meeting of stockholders.
